

De Witt Clinton Takes 23 Class Trot as Fair Races Open

PAUL NEYRON GRABS 19 PACE BY NOSING OUT YEDNA'S BONNIE

Marion-Owned Horses Make Only Average Showing on First Day.

Marion-owned horses did not fare very well yesterday in the two events run off at the fairground track as the three-day racing program of the Marion county fair got under way. The bay mare, Hollywood Audrey, owned by Dr. J. G. McNamara, turned in the best record, finishing third twice and fifth once in the three heats of the 2:19 pace. Plaxico piloted the Marion entry.

The time was comparatively slow in the first event of the afternoon as a large field took the track for the 2:23 trot. DeWitt Clinton, owned by Dr. H. L. Hirsland of Springfield, after doing no better than seventh in the opening heat, came back in the last two and topped the first money with two straight victories. The winner turned in 2:12½ as his best running time. DeWitt Clinton led the field in the opening heat but broke within 50 feet of the finish wire and dropped clear back to seventh before crossing the wire.

Paul Neyron, piloted by Wirt Mallow and owned by the Edinbrook stables of Cleveland, romped off with the money in the 2:19 pace, stepping the mile in 2:06½. Neyron captured all three heats of the race but had to come from behind in two of them to cross the finish wire a nose ahead of Yedna's Bonnie, another Cleveland-owned entry. Yedna's Bonnie led the first two heats nearly all the distance but couldn't hold the lead against the spirited stretch drive of the winner.

Three events are on the books for this afternoon with three more on the closing day, Friday.

CLEVELAND NOT TO PURCHASE TOLEDO

By The Associated Press
TOLEDO, O., Sept. 15.—The Cleveland Indians will not operate Toledo's American association baseball team as a "farm" unless the $50,000 price set for the club is reduced.

Alva Bradley, president of the Indians, notified Al E. Reuben, receiver of the club, the American league club would not exercise the option it took on the Toledo Mud Hens at that price a year ago.

CUBS, PIRATES BOTH LOSE, SO NATIONAL RACE IS UNCHANGED

Brooklyn Renews Threat by Stopping St. Louis Cards; Indians Win.

By The Associated Press
As the Chicago Cubs continue to back in a little closer to the National league title day by day, gradually winning the thing by default, as to speak, their manager is perfectly satisfied with their conduct and steadfastly refuses to view with alarm.

Charlie Grimm would it that way. Not that he wouldn't like to win every day, but he isn't in any great hurry to sew up the pennant. The little bears lost to the New York Giants yesterday, 4 to 2, when Freddie Lindstrom hit a home run in the eleventh inning, but it didn't damage their status any in speak of as the Pittsburgh Pirates were dropping another game to Boston, 5 to 2.

Brooklyn took the Cardinals again, 3 to 1, and the Phillies subdued Cincinnati, 4 to 1, as big Roy Hansen limited the Reds to four hits.

Some of the Yankee veterans took a rest, but the "Jayvees" were able to beat the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2.

Detroit whaled four Washington pitchers to win an 8 to 3 verdict. Jimmie Dykes' home run with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth, set off an eight-run rally that saw the Athletics submerge St. Louis, 12 to 5.

Cleveland scored a 3 to 0 win over the Red Sox.

OHIO GRID COACHES HUNT FOR MATERIAL

Mentors Have Little To Say as Charges Go Through Paces.

By The Associated Press
The annual search for undeveloped football talent went forward on a score of Ohio gridiron today as a few of the coaches commenced to reap a harvest for their efforts. Most, however, reserved opinions as they watched first-year men at work.

At Xavier, the hunt for a capable center seemed to have brought results in the person of Lucchese. Xavier also saw Sanders a prospective first-string end.

With four complete backfields in prospect, the University of Cincinnati coaches cast critical eyes toward Fitzgerald and Sidingier, quarters, and Gilliland and Kneimert, fullbacks.

A sophomore, Ashley Lyon, was looked on by the Mount Union coaches as probably filling their need for a fullback.

Coch Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan, experimenting with an unbalanced line formation, virtually has determined to shift the system.

CRESTLINE TO OPEN GRID SKED SUNDAY

CRESTLINE, O., Sept. 15.—The referee's whistle will sound here Sunday, Sept. 18 to start the 1932 grid season of the strong Crestline Merchants' semipro team. The Gallon Eagles will furnish the opposition, the game to start at 3 p. m. The game will be played at the Lincoln athletic field on the Lincoln highway.

Coch Struick reports the Crestline team in good shape and expecting a successful season. He has signed up several star ball carriers and linemen, among them Hutson, formerly of Heidelberg, an all-Ohio star, Lawrence, former Oberlin star, and Burnien, also of Heidelberg.

Crestline will play Turners College of Toledo, Tiffin College, Mansfield Bears, Sandusky Eagles, Tiffin Merchants, and Trent's College of Columbus.

RIVALS WILL RENEW STRUGGLE FOR CITY CROWN; START 6 P. M.

Schwaderer and Shoemaker Slated To Do Mound Work in Titular Fray.

Having battled through one six-inning game to a scoreless tie earlier this week, the First Presbyterians and K. of D. softball teams, aspirants for the city softball championship, will return to Lincoln park at 6 p. m. today for another conflict in the Little World series. Today will be the seventh series game and possibly the last. Should the Presbies come through with a victory today the series will be ended with the 1931 title holders once again on the rule's crum. However, a K. of D. triumph will force the series into another game.

Dale Schwaderer, who absconded 1,600 fans Monday with a brilliant one-hit pitching exhibition against the church champs, will again take the hill today for the fraternal combine and attempt to duplicate the feat. It is hardly likely the youthful right hander will be able to hold the Presbies so completely at his mercy twice in a row but he is likely to offer them all kinds of difficulty. Don Shoemaker will again do the chucking for the Presbyterians. Shoemaker has pitched the church team to a pair of victories and one tie score in the series thus far. He is seeking his second consecutive city crown as he did all the mound work when the Presbies grabbed the city title last season.

The lineups of the two teams are expected to be the same as on

OPTIMISM PREVAILS AS BUCKEYES START FOOTBALL PRACTICE

William Needs Only Two Tackles and One End for Lineup.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 15.—Scarlet clad figures, approximately 100 of them, trotted out on Ohio State university's practice field this morning, their initial step in preparing for what many believe will be the best season Ohio has enjoyed in more than a decade.

Some of the optimism prevalent around the campus has been caught by the coaching staff, but not all of it. "We should have a pretty fair team," said Head Coach Sam S. Williamson. He countered, however, with "anything can happen between now and Nov. 19."

There's plenty of material at Ohio State this year, some with experience and some without. The great need now is a pair of tackles in replace Bob Haurich and Bill Bell, graduated last June. These replacements probably will come from the inexperienced ranks which may or may not work a hardship with the Buckeyes.

A new wingman must also be found. Otherwise Williamson should be in fairly good shape, barring, of course, the old injury jinx.

Regis Menahan of Lorain, a 200-pound lad, seemed destined to take care of one tackle position with the other an open race, with Fred Conrad of Wooster, having an inside track. Max Padlow of Dayton

22 Youthful Pugs Carded for "Grudge" Bouts Friday

What the promoter has chosen to call a "grudge" fight card has been lined up for Marion little enthusiasts Friday night of this week at the Eagles hall on West Center street.

Twenty-two entries in the recent north central Ohio amateur championship tourney who think they didn't get all that was coming to them in the decisions, will return Friday to put on another series of battles. These fights will have nothing to do with the N. C. O. tourney, that having been completed last week. Victory in these fights will bring nothing to the victor—except satisfaction. Each fight will go four rounds to a decision. The fights will start at 8:30 p. m.

Marty Blue and Paul Kappalo, a pair of 122 pounders from Marion, will open the hostilities after a curtain raiser between two midweights, Joe Caprino and Louis Sprocco. Kappalo and Blue are hard-swinging youngsters that have been fighting for some time around here in amateur circles. The rest of the program will line up as follows:

Clyde Wilson of Marion, 118, vs. Howard Hostetter of Marion, 118; Ralph Anderson of Marion, 123, vs. Edward Collins of Marion, 122; Slumbo Emerson of Marion, 122, vs. Nov. 12—Pennsylvania; Nov. 19—At Illinois.

Batteries and score by innings:
All-Stars..... 41250—12 15 1
C. & O..... 00001—1 5 3
All-Stars, C. Sheebs and L. Sheebs; C. & O., Gilmore and Saunders.

Johnny Earl of Marion, 128, vs. Dale Gray of Bucyrus, 126; N. C. Stout of Marion, 126, vs. Slip Eymann of Marion, 137; Harold Burnside of Marion, 137, vs. Johnny Kinney of Marion, 137; Lewis Mayer of Marion, 141; Frank Detwiler of Marion, 141; Frank Blue of Marion, 141; Serphus (Tuffy) Pope of Bucyrus, 155; Ed Ketterling of Delaware, 155, vs. Ed Rybolt of Delaware, 155, and Ed Wiseman of Marion, 141, vs. Donny Platt of Marion, 145.

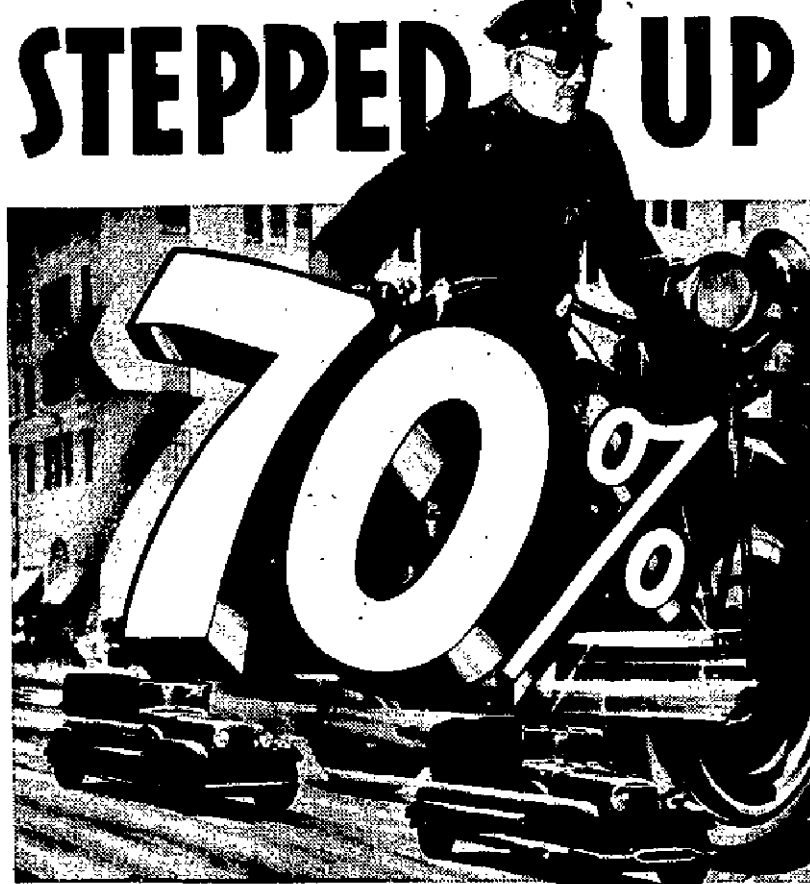

Two of the most popular fighters here in the N. C. O. tourney are entered here in the persons of Lewis Mayer and Harold Burnside, both of Marion. These two boys are pile-driving punchers and while neither is a particularly scientific boxer, both are in there swinging with everything from the opening to the closing gong. Burnside eliminated Mayer in the tourney and was later eliminated himself.

All-Stars Win, 12-1

The Marion All-Stars turned in their thirty-ninth victory of the season yesterday by beating the C. & O. team, 12-1. Carl Sheebs allowed the losers only five hits.

The All-Stars have arranged a game for Sept. 18 at Mansfield against the Mansfield Prospects team.

Batteries and score by innings:
All-Stars..... 41250—12 15 1
C. & O..... 00001—1 5 3
All-Stars, C. Sheebs and L. Sheebs; C. & O., Gilmore and Saunders.

YOU PAY NOTHING EXTRA for this ace of high-test motor fuels

You can improve the performance of your car—quicken its pick-up and getaway—increase its hill-climbing power—get surprising mileage—without adding one cent to your expense. Simply use the new Sinclair Regular Gasoline.

This outstanding bargain in motor fuels has a higher anti-knock rating than some premium fuels for which you must pay 3 cents more per gallon. Sinclair Regular has been stepped up 70% in anti-knock at a cost of $18,000,000 in new refinery equipment—but you pay nothing extra.

Try the new Sinclair Regular for 30 days. Match it gallon for gallon with the gasoline you are now using. The results will tell. Ask for the new Sinclair Regular, stepped up 70%.

NOTE: For best results, use Sinclair Opaline or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil. Both have been de-waxed, and also freed from petroleum jelly at as low as 60° F. below zero.

Area To Participate in New 10-Year Scout Plan

Program Outlined on Suggestion of President Hoover; Aim Is To Give at Least One Boy in Four Scout Training Before Reaching Age of 21.

Plans for launching in the Marion Boy Scouts in the United States while there was "raw material for ten million more." The first step in formulating the plan in the Marion area, Scout Executive Brooks said today, will be the appointing of a committee to study the situation in this area with the view of bringing more boys into the organization. A meeting of all scoutmasters and troop committee-men in Marion has been called for Friday, Sept. 23 when the program in detail will be discussed.

Local scout officials, who have received copies of the ten year program, are enthusiastic about its value. "Without H. Byrnes, Scout commissioner, said, "it means a better community, a better state, a better nation. It will be a definite contribution of the Boy Scouts of America to our country." Scout Executive Brooks said the program places emphasis upon the ultimate purpose of Scouting: "the development of men of character trained for participating citizenship."

1,750 SIGNATURES ON PETITION OF EAGLES

Old-Age Pension Sought by Fraternal Order; Marion Exceeds Quota.

One thousand seven hundred, fifty signatures to the petition for an old age pension for Ohio, sponsored by the Eagles lodge, was obtained to the petitions circulated in Marion county, according to a report made by the committee in charge, at the meeting of Marion Aerie No. 37 Order of Eagles last night. Marion county's quota was 900 signatures.

The committee reported Hardin county had also gone over the top in the number of signatures obtained. The petitions will now be forwarded to M. L. Brown at Springfield, state secretary of the order where they will be checked and returned to the local board of elections for rechecking before being submitted to the secretary of state for presenting to the legislature this winter.

In event the legislature ignores the petitions, John Abel, secretary of the lodge said this morning, the matter will be referred to the voters through a referendum.

The committee in charge of the annual charity fair reported plans were being made to hold the fair about the middle of November although no definite dates had been fixed.

TWO FALSE ALARMS CALL OUT FIREMEN

Turned in from Different Sections of City Within 35 Minutes.

Practical jokers who entertain themselves by turning in false fire alarms resumed their activities last night after several weeks of quietness when two alarms were turned in within 35 minutes.

At 11:07 firemen from the central station were called to East Church street and Reed avenue where someone had sent in an alarm from box 45. At 11:40 firemen from the No. 3 station answered a call from box 73 at Main and Fairground streets. In both cases the neighborhood in the vicinity of the box was deserted when the firemen arrived.

Several firemen from the central station responded in the chief's car.

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobacco in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is seldom Mild"

—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

WOMEN PAST 30- WATCH YOUR GALL BLADDER

75% of all Gall Bladder Cases are Women—Symptoms Most Telling; What to Do

What a woman who is past 30 should know is that she is more likely to have gall stones than a man of the same age. In fact, 75 per cent of all gall bladder cases are women. The symptoms are most telling when they appear. They are: a dull ache in the right side of the abdomen, especially under the ribs; a feeling of fullness or bloating after meals; indigestion; flatulence; and a general feeling of discomfort. If you have these symptoms, you should consult a doctor at once. The treatment is simple and effective. It is to eat a diet of low fat foods, and to take a course of treatment with a medicine that will dissolve the stones. This medicine is called "Gall Bladder Remedy" and it is available at all drug stores. It is a safe and effective remedy for gall bladder trouble. It will dissolve the stones and relieve the pain. It is a must for every woman who is past 30.

Water Bros. clothing store on South Main street yesterday afternoon on a charge of shoplifting. Gonzalez, with two companions, entered the store early in the afternoon and while one of the companions looked at a pair of shoes, Gonzalez, according to store employees, walked behind a rack of coats and took a top coat. When the store was closed, the top coat was found missing. Gonzalez, who was wearing a dark suit, was seen leaving the store. He was arrested by a patrolman who had been watching him. He was taken to the police station and held on a charge of theft.

Hourly asserting that he had taken nothing, the man was held in one side by the patrolman when a preliminary search revealed the top coat tucked away under his vest. A double breasted coat which he had left unbuttoned formed an effective screen for the bulging vest.

As Gonzalez was stopped by the patrolman, his companions continued on their way out of the store and disappeared. Gonzalez pleaded not guilty to a petit larceny charge when brought before Municipal Judge W. R. Martin later in the afternoon and he is being held under $200 bond for a hearing at 3 p. m. Friday.

Delaware County Man, 84, Oldest Exhibitor at Fair

Mr. "Jack" Cole, 84, of seven years' east of Delaware, beyond 100 is the oldest exhibitor at the Marion county fair this year. In 19 years and in experience as an exhibitor, and probably has a greater number of consecutive years than any other man in the county.

His poultry has been seen here many years, dating back to times when he boarded a horse-drawn wagon with exhibits and visited fairs in central Ohio. He has not missed showing poultry since his first exhibit was placed in the Hartford fair when he was 10 years old. His first exhibit won $14 for him, and his winnings have run as high as $95 at one fair.

Mr. Cole spends all of his time around his exhibits, sleeping on the fairgrounds at night. He is accompanied and assisted by his son John. This is the fifth county fair in which his exhibit has been entered this year.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Sept. 16

ACCORDING to the dominant place of gracious Venus in this day's horoscope much of pleasure and happiness may be assured in the social, domestic and affectional realm rather than in commonplace business activities, unless this business concerns the departments of the mentioned: Women's wear, jewelry, household furnishings, catering, or anything of a cultural or artistic nature. There is promise of courtship, friendship and marriage and these happy auspices should not be marred by a too ready or caustic tongue.

Those whose birthday it is are quite likely to celebrate their energies during the year on domestic, social, romantic or artistic activities rather than in worldly fields of endeavor. A child born on this day should be refined, gracious, artistically inclined, lovable, fond of and talented in music, song and dancing. Notable nativity: Hamelin Garland, author.

STREET WORK PROGRESSING

City Relief Employees Prepare East Center for Resurfacing Operations.

Work of removing the asphalt from the south side of East Center street from Grand avenue to Kensington place in preparation for the resurfacing has been completed and workmen are now removing the street car tracks.

When the rails have been removed as far as Kensington place, Service Director E. O. Unepher said today, the south side of the street will be opened to traffic while the asphalt is being removed from the north side.

The concrete base of the street will provide a reasonably smooth roadway pending the placing of the resurfacing material. Whether the street car rails will be removed from Baker street to Grand avenue has not yet been definitely determined.

Relief Labor Used

The work is being done by relief labor under the direction of Service Director Unepher. The men are also trimming the lower branches from trees on East Center street in an effort to make the street lights more effective.

Asphalt that is being removed from the street is being used in building a new surface on unimproved streets in the eastern end of the city. Forest Lawn boulevard from Church street to Indiana avenue is being improved from the end of the present improvement to Indiana avenue, providing an improved outlet at both ends of the boulevard.

Indiana avenue is also being improved from the new school building east and when completed will provide an improved street from Kensington place to Grand avenue.

The asphalt is spread over the street, rolled down with a heavy roller and a top covering applied. The asphalt removed from the street car tracks on East Center street is being used as a top dressing as well as moppers sand obtained from the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

The asphalt is spread over the street, rolled down with a heavy roller and a top covering applied. The asphalt removed from the street car tracks on East Center street is being used as a top dressing as well as moppers sand obtained from the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Just when the state highway department which is cooperating with the city in the resurfacing of the street, will be ready to proceed with the improvement is not known. Safety Director Unepher said today. Whether the contract for the work will be let to a construction company or whether the work will be done by the state department, is also unknown.

Under an agreement between the city and the state department, the city will pay $7,500 toward the cost of the improvement and the state highway department the balance.

RESERVES DECISION IN SHOOTING CASE

After hearing the evidence in the case of Aaron Sharp of north of the city who was arrested two weeks ago on complaint of Sylvester and Earl Rodman who said Sharp had shot at them, Municipal Judge W. H. Martin yesterday announced he would reserve his decision. In the meantime Sharp is at liberty on his own recognizance. Sharp in his testimony yesterday admitted doing the shooting which took place on Nov. 12, 1931. He told the court he had fired several shots at the two men when he found them prowling around his home at night. He said he had ordered them to stay off of the place a number of times and when he had found them prowling around his house on Nov. 12, he obtained a revolver and fired at them as they disappeared in the darkness.

Apparatus has been invented in England that virtually makes sunlight into sound by irradiating the sound with ultraviolet rays.

Women's Handiwork Plainly Seen in Displays at Marion County Fair

One place where the women shine at the Marion county fairgrounds is in the grange building, where women are least suspected of having a hand. The men of the fair raised most of the vegetables, fruits, grains and seeds that are displayed there this year, but it was the women's taste in arranging all of these in the most attractive manner that brought the huge and red ribbons of first and second prizes.

Evidence of the "woman's hand" is seen at almost every turn at the fairgrounds. They may even have had a hand in feeding some of the cattle and sheep that are on display in the barns.

And the little girls aren't far behind their mothers in their displays at the fair this year. Their vocational home economics and all club displays show a real knowledge of sewing and cooking.

The winning grange display was that made by the women of Bethlehem Grange No. 1894. The women utilized every inch of the space allotted them to make their display both interesting and instructive. Cornucopias pouring forth fruits are at the corners of the exhibit, and between and above them are evidences of all the good things that come of farm life.

The display includes fruits, fresh, canned and jelled, vegetables, raw and canned, flowers of hardy garden variety, candies that are made by the women from the rich cream and butter of their farms, and cans of the finest of green and clover seeds. To the front of the display is a tray of fruits, labeled "The Harvest Feast," and at either side are dolls dressed to represent the founders of the grange, Oliver Kelly and Carrie Hall.

The women of Progressive grange took second prize with their arrangement of farm products, above which hangs a likeness of George Washington, cleverly made of beans.

In the art hall are to be found things that are of interest to women, stressing homemaking. Several quilts, chenille pillow tops, a crocheted pillow top with an American flag and an American Beauty rose crocheted in colors, pottery, modeling and paintings are all in this hall.

A great many women will be interested in the display of antiques at the north end of the hall. Here may be seen a cradle of nearly 100 years ago, cooking appliances, a woman dressed in the fashion of the '30's, and many other interesting and valuable relics of another day. A furniture display and an exhibit of cookstoves, all new and modern are interesting, and mothers of Boy Scouts and prospective Boy Scouts will find the Harding Area council display of interest.

Student Display

The 4-H girls' clubs and the vocational home economics departments of the county schools have displays in the junior fair building. Dresses, aprons, towels, dolls, pajama sets, underwear, and pretty little articles suitable for gifts, and all made by the girls, are displayed here, together with samples of their cooking.

The Marion County Federation of Women's clubs has a space in the art hall where women are asked to sign a petition to foreign governments requesting the sending of delegates to the International Congress of Women at the Chicago World's fair in 1933. Two women of the federation are in attendance at the building each day.

The nurses of Marion City hospital are doing their bit this year by helping the Red Cross at the first-aid tent on the grounds, and the Women's Christian Temperance union is making fair-going more enjoyable by having a rest tent with chairs and cots for those women who come to the grounds and wish to rest for a few minutes or leave their children while they "do" the fair.

FORMAL OPENING

We invite the public to attend the formal opening of our new modern plant at 142 Olney avenue, Friday evening, September 16th, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Music by the M. & R. Saxophone Sextet--Ice Cream for all

Above is shown the fleet of eight new modern Step and Drive Trucks used in our retail delivery service.

Our Company's policy has always been to keep abreast of the times and with our new plant in operation, we have reached the climaxing point in a program that has brought to our patrons in Marion the very latest in modern dairy service. In every phase of business, we have at hand facilities of operation unexcelled in the industry.

From the time Moores & Ross milk is received at the plant, sweet and in scrupulously clean cans, and put through a series of processes--separation, pasteurization, bottling, cooling, until the time it reaches the consumer's doorstep, Moores & Ross products are prepared by machinery and methods completely sanitary and up-to-date.

During the hours of the formal opening, all equipment at the plant will be in operation. Inspecting it will be an educational and interesting experience we believe, and a cordial welcome is extended to all those we serve and those we hope to serve.

The Maine Vote.

Missionaries fighting superstition work no harder than politicians do when the Maine vote in a presidential year seems unfavorable to their party. Glad enough to use the results when they are favorable, they want no part of them when they are not.

Actually, of course, the decisions of Maine voters have nothing to do with national voting trends, despite the consistently published slogan, "As goes Maine, so goes the nation." An apparently high percentage of success in prognostication is due solely to the fact that both Maine and the nation have been predominantly Republican since 1868. Eighteen of 19 Maine governors and 14 out of 39 Presidents elected since then have been Republicans. Incidentally, not one of five Democratic presidential victors, from the election of James Buchanan to the second election of Woodrow Wilson, was preceded by election of a Democratic governor in Maine.

Nevertheless, in defiance of indisputable evidence provided by the records, Democrats will make the most of their victory in Maine this year. Ignoring the fact that candidates for the governorship and congress were not elected on issues, but personalities, they will predict general success for the Democratic party because two out of three congressional seats and the governor's chair will be occupied by Democrats during the coming term.

Republicans, realizing that slogans may rival facts in strength, will point out undoubtedly the facts stated above, to counteract Democratic propaganda. They would have liked to carry Maine in last Monday's election. Failure to do so, however, does not prove Maine will not go Republican in November. As long as Pine Tree state Democrats figure their majority in the small figures of last Monday's poll, rock-ribbed Republicans won't be forced to close up shop for lack of support.

Twist June and September.

Political mud days are here. The traditional Labor day starting point for active campaigning is only a little more than a week back in current history, but already the air is filled with missiles from both camps.

Before the fighting becomes so fierce as to obliterate all delights of calm speculation, it might be well to examine an interesting proposal concerning the lapse of time between the party conventions and the period of active campaigning. It is suggested by Alfred E. Smith, among others, that it would be better to hold the conventions late in September, thus making them the opening guns in a short, vigorous campaign, rather than a sort of preliminary diplomatic skirmish.

Things that please the fancy in June may lose their attraction by September, and the Smith proposal appears to have suffered, in the minds of many, from a season change of viewpoint. In June, the campaign was a delight in prospect; there was eagerness to be at it. In September, it is, to many, a hard business of reality. Perhaps they allowed their enthusiasm to be consumed in anticipation. However that may be, there is likely to be more conservatism than enthusiasm over any reform which would make the circus hurry-burly of the conventions the starting point for campaigning. A glance backward at what happened last June in Chicago is enough to convince most of the non-combatants in the quadrennial tussle that a breathing spell between the nominations and the campaigning is sound practice.

July and August are little time enough to regain mental balance, to get acquainted with candidates and issues and to get prepared for assault and defense. Scatter-brained as presidential campaigns are, they might be worse if sweating and hysterical convention delegates were permitted to rush into them without first cooling off.

Mr. Smith's well-meant proposal, it must be remembered, emanates from the brain of a professional politician, only lately turned editor. The people stampede easily enough when the Labor day hubbub starts. They deserve at least two months to get accustomed to the prospect before they open their ears and minds to political persuasion.

The Fourth Winter.

This week there will meet in Washington a conference of community welfare leaders in response to a call by the national citizens' committee, welfare and relief mobilization of 1932. Newton D. Baker is the chairman.

The purpose of the conference will be to devise methods of dealing with the nation's gravest immediate problem—cases of unfortunate Americans during the coming winter. It is the fourth of the depression periods; it will be the worst. Perhaps it is expressing too much confidence to say that the conference will deal with methods. A more important purpose may be to establish morale to deal with a situation that easily can be made to appear hopeless. Welfare leaders do not know what will happen; they only know what must happen if millions of helpless are to be protected from dehumanization and starvation.

That there is possibility of starvation in a land of plenty, welfare leaders do not admit. That there is possibility, even probability, of dehumanization, they are forced to admit by the pressure of their own individual consciences. They do not see how enough money can be raised to provide for more than subsistence.

Nevertheless, they will not abandon their conception of what must be done. In the words of Newton D. Baker, "our problem is not whether we can afford to supply health and character-building agencies, but whether we can afford not to." Believing that this will be the winter of greatest need, they will endeavor to convince their fellow Americans of the absolute necessity for giving more generously than ever before.

Charity will be reinforced by appropriations in every division of government. Appropriations of sufficient size to relieve individual donors of their responsibility can not be made, however, without sweeping alterations of principle which Americans are not prepared to make on short notice.

The worst winter of the depression will be the severest trial this nation has undergone. Is it a sign of confidence or a sign of carelessness that it is so little regarded with winter but a few weeks away?

In Protest.

The biggest little man in the world is back in the newspapers again, this time with a threat to end his life by starvation if the story hearts of the English do not yield to his plea. The cause is a system of elections, on which the British government disagrees with Mr. Gandhi.

If the Mahatma were almost any one else, it would be easy to describe his starvation threat as megalomania and let it go at that. Somehow, the suspicion that there is more to it than that, in his case, won't be denied. Mahatma Gandhi is too smart to be an ordinary martyr.

A megalomaniac, furthermore, has grandiose delusions which cause his grandstand exhibitions to look more like simple folly than important exhibits. It is not that way with Mr. Gandhi. No one who has been following the news from India the last few years will be found willing to predict that the little saint could die in protest without arousing a mighty storm of indignation.

In other words, any martyrdom in which Mahatma Gandhi indulges is likely to be powerful and effective. He is sure of himself; he knows the extent of his influence among his people. If he could gain one victory for them by dying, he would die.

It is not to be forgotten, of course, that a man of Mr. Gandhi's rare attainments does not die obscurely, particularly when he is thinking of dying as a protest against the decision of a heavy-handed ruler. At this stage of his negotiations with the politicians in London, he probably is thinking no more of dying than they are; he merely is giving them a rough idea of the trouble they are tempting. He is daring them to call his bluff—daring them with a glint in his eye, because he knows that they know he would go through with it, if necessary.

The Princely Prerogative.

The Prince of Wales has been at it again, making hearts flutter and tongues wag. No American girl was the chosen companion this time, though. She was Mrs. Cecile Kraus of Turin, Italy—and of all things a widow.

It all took place at Venice's Lido, a perfect setting for a princely romance. A former American, now hidden behind an Italian title, made the introduction. There had to be an American in it somewhere. The prince liked Mrs. Kraus, and it goes without saying that she was cordial to the prince. And so they talked about this and that, in German, danced until 9 o'clock in the morning, slipped refreshments, went up on the roof and looked at the stars—everything one would do with a prince under the same circumstances. Special attention should be given Mrs. Kraus' refusal to see Venice by moonlight, a la gondola. A woman of some character is that widow.

Then, the next morning, they went swimming together, laughing and having a great time, with little thought of what the newspapers would be saying. And what are the newspapers saying?

Chiefly this: to be found in the conclusion of their newest story on the world's most eligible bachelor.

At noon the prince said good-bye and left in a seaplane for Corfu. No living happily ever after; not even any lingering. The princely prerogative is to excommunicate and leave 'em. Perhaps it had better be called the princely duty.

Comment of the Press

THE BULGE AT THE TOP.

Boys and girls who can't get jobs can go to school. This is the economic urge behind the amazing jump in high school enrollment with which the Cleveland school year opens. The same story was in the suburban schools which opened last week and is being duplicated in most other cities.

It is a good thing for the boy and girl in most cases, although it may be hard on parents just now when most family incomes are curtailed and many have stopped altogether. It means that a little better educational equipment will be given more members of the rising generation this year than before. They need it, for at best they'll have tough going when they finally step out into a more or less jobless world. And perhaps the best thing is that they know they'll need it. This year, the teens, will be more serious attention to study on the part of those who are approaching maturity in this period of depression.

No one begrudges them their full share of fun. But if hard times curtail their bent toward idleness and idleness both they and their elders will be the gainers. Meanwhile the bulge at the high school end of the public school system while elementary enrollment declines just added financial burdens on taxpayers and educational administrators. High schools cost more per unit than the lower grades.

The situation emphasizes once more the continuing need for economy in school operations.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CAUSE FOR ENCOURAGEMENT.

Business has shown unmistakable signs of a comeback during the last two months. Everywhere confidence and industrialists have expressed confidence that at last, better times are near at hand. If business, in a season when every eye is looking for a sign of recovery, can show such progress as is obviously apparent, then there seems nothing to stop it from going ahead at much greater speed now that those obstructions have been removed. The autumn should see a distinct revival in business. From now until the Christmas buying rush is over, all things being equal, there should be a marked sleeping up in all business activities.

We are through with empty prophecies. We look for the tangible signs of recovery's return. And they are not wanting. The national government, aided by Congress, in motion great agencies, designed not only to stimulate that needed buying by the masses but to create that air of confidence which will encourage spending. Once the average consumer feels secure as to the future he will be in the market for many commodities.—Toledo Times.

Whooping Cough Neglect Dangerous.

Nothing is more distressing than to see a young child suffering from spasms of whooping cough. It causes real misery and, contrary to a belief held by most mothers, is a serious disease. Whooping cough is one of the chief causes of death in children under five years of age. A belated whooping cough is too frequently neglected and too often looked upon merely as one of the normal happenings of childhood.

Not until recently was the cause of whooping cough determined. The germ responsible for it is known as the "bacillus of Bordet and Gengou," named after its discoverers. To put it in simple language, this germ becomes lodged in the lining of the windpipe. As it multiplies, swelling and mucus formation result. The mucus prevents normal breathing and produces severe spasms of coughing. Later we observe the characteristic "whoop" of the disease.

The germs are carried by the saliva and the moisture expelled by the cough. Contact with these secretions causes the disease to be passed from one child to another.

Some children suffer mild attacks, while others have severe and prolonged attacks of coughing. The coughing lowers the vitality. The child becomes restless, loses weight and becomes extremely susceptible to other respiratory infections, such as pneumonia and influenza. These are the most dreaded complications of whooping cough.

Never deliberately expose a child to whooping cough. He should be kept away from one who has, or is suspected of having, whooping cough.

Unfortunately, it is not easy to recognize the disease in its early stages. Persistent coughing is an early sign. In the first period the disease resembles a common cold with a cough. This stage lasts about two weeks and during this time the cough becomes severe and more persistent.

Early diagnosis of whooping cough is important. Its recognition prevents the spread of the disease. In addition, it hastens recovery and convenience to begin treatment at once. When proper care and attention are given to the disease in its early stages, it is usually cured.

A Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUNKER.

Washington, Sept. 15.—There's only one woman in the senate entitled to a seat in that body, but the feminine influence at this end of the capitol is decidedly pronounced.

For the 30 or more standing committees of the senate a dozen or so have women as clerks. That's the highest ranking job of senatorial clerical forces. Usually it goes to the secretary of the committee. It has been a long time with a senator.

Miss Cora Rubin, for example, has been with Senator Borah 27 years. When he succeeded to the chairmanship of the foreign affairs committee, the clerkship fell to her.

The clerk of the committee on intercommerce is listed on the senate roster as "M. H. Schall." M. H. Schall is the wife of the third senator from Minnesota. It's a curious thing in the senate of the joint fight they have made against the intercommerce that robbed him of his eyesight years ago.

There's another senate wife in the committee on intercommerce, in Minnesota.

Daily Talk to Parents

BY ALICE JUDSON FEALE.

A JEALOUS SCENE.

A teacher who was especially well liked by his class of girls took them one day on a hike. At one point where it was necessary to cross a small stream, one of them asked whether she might not take his arm and he helped her across. Immediately she felt a general tension in the atmosphere. The girls walked in little whispering groups. When they had all returned one of them broke forth: "A fine hike that was! I would just as soon have stayed here all afternoon. It's perfectly disgusting!"

"What is perfectly disgusting?" the teacher asked. "The nerve of that girl to take your arm. And you allowed her!" "Don't you think perhaps that you are only angry because it wasn't you who took it?" At this the girl had to laugh and the rest of the class laughed with her. "Look here," said the teacher, "I could see that you were all angry with me for showing what looked like favoritism. But if you think a moment you will see that it was not so. I give help to each one of you as she needs it. Today to this one, tomorrow to another. And this girl happened to need help to get across the brook, that's all. You have no reason to be angry either with her or with me."

The atmosphere was clear once more. Children are bound to be jealous when a parent or a teacher whom they like shows what they interpret as preference for another child. It helps to discuss the matter frankly. The child in admitting his angry feelings finds that they largely disappear. This is so, of course, only where there was no real favoritism involved.

Highlights of Ohio History

BY J. H. CALVERT

A HALF-SIZED OHIO.

Opponents of statehood for the Ohio section of the Northwest territory succeeded in the legislature that met at Chillicothe in November, 1801, in putting through an act which outlined the first steps to be established in the new territory.

Not even the opponents of statehood really were in favor of the proposition so far as it concerned the boundaries of the proposed state of Ohio. They wanted to make the statehood proposition as unsatisfactory as possible. They therefore drew the western boundary of the first state at the Scioto river from the Ohio to its source, and from there a straight line to the lake shore. This would have made Ohio about half its size when it eventually was admitted to the Union.

The passage of this act stirred pre-statehood men to many acts of violence. But led by men of more sober mind, chiefly Thomas Worthington, afterward governor of the state, any real damage was prevented.

There was really no danger that a state of such restricted area would be formed in all this, but only that statehood would be indefinitely postponed.

New York Day by Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 15.—The Herald realizes it will never have another Ziegfeld. His passing accentuates his eccentricities, his moods and his devotion to his "brother break" that had dominated his life even in his exile.

For Ziegfeld, the master, would have soon been on his way down the other side of the hill. The theater which was his most passionate love was in the course of eclipse. Perhaps his special style of extravaganzas, too, was being clouded by what he disdainfully called "sophisticated" things. He went out at his peak, the champion of his profession. Broadway was not allowed to forget him as it has so many of its idols. The street had not yet begun looking groundward for his clay feet. But Ziegfeld was beginning to show the weight of Time.

I saw him last in a restaurant patronized by theater folk. A handsome figure of a man, he had begun to shrink. His eyes had lost some of the beauty-lure. In photographs his eyes seem to be jet black because of their juvenility. They were a light blue, bright, ungrateful—like a pigeon's. No one lived more fully. Whatever he wanted, he managed to acquire. Querculous, oftentimes ingenuously unfair, he had a quality that eventually brought enemies around to be his friends. Everybody in the theater at some time or other hated Ziegfeld. He knew it—and smiled his grim smile.

There were those who said humor was Ziegfeld's blind spot. It is true that he was not much interested in comedy. A nod from Gene Buck generally decided Ziegfeld was more interested in "melting" girls into beautiful scenes and vice versa. Yet he had a quick humor. Years ago I was his press agent at a time he was embarking for Europe in Ziegfeldian style—the royal suite, food from an avenue shop, a valet, private masseur and galaxy of secretaries. A catastrophe that day shrouded ship news almost out of the paper. When the ship carried New York editions reached Paris and he scanned them he called: "Sorry you snaked me out of New York."

Like other Ziegfeld employees, he lifted me and forgot about it. I would receive 500-word telegrams blowing me out of the water for some real or imagined publicity destruction and an ignominious dismissal. At 7 the next morning from his bed in Hastings he would voice would ask me to make hilarious duties of the day. He would send extravagant orders but expect only a modicum to be executed.

We once parted for good in mutual anger, each saying things we later regretted and for which we mutually apologized. I was to see him at his morning habit of phoning me at day-break and I was largely why we parted. Relations. Yet only a few weeks before he died he offered a touch of humor in some trifling request for publicity which ended: "If you don't do this I'll be phoning you around six in the morning to see if you are well and happy."

No man knew Ziegfeld better than his English valet, Sidney, and contrary to the old saw, here the producer was very much a hero to this "Jeeves" in real life. Sidney adored him and it was in his arms the master breathed his last. If he was happy, he twisted Sidney, if he was in a fury of temper, Sidney bore the brunt. But Ziegfeld was no place without Sidney or indeed no new venture without discussing it with his valet.

In his study offices in the New Amsterdam—where he spent the large part of his theatrical career—he sat at an enormous desk dotted with ivory elephants of which he was a collector. He smoked furiously 45 cigars imported from Havana and resting in a cunningly contrived humidor that shot one out, rolled in tin-foil, at a button press. Now and then he would say from his desk and with a glass atomizer spray the room with scented scents. He was a study in many contradictions.

Next to the last time I saw him he was producing a show after a full following of a number of sold shows. Once, in his squeaky, nasal twang and with rushed array, he said: "Some of these producers think they are going to buy me like a rug." He was not. "But they won't." And they didn't. He died the master.—Copyright, 1932, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Marry-Go-Round

MIND GRILL. Many a little cocktail party for two has ended in lawyers for four.

This is the time of year when a girl begins to wonder why the men to whom she became engaged in June or July are worth inviting to her Christmas party or her January loss.

Getting married is fairly easy; it's getting properly courted, these frank, prosaic days, that is so difficult.

A Great Lover used to be a man who could teach a woman as though she were the first Big Moment in his life; but now, he is a superlative artist if he can kiss her as though she were positively going to be the last.

Never despair of a man's susceptibility, until he airily hands you a larrikin and laughingly defies you to rope him into matrimony.

These times have had such a hum-making effect on all of us that some of the ultra-smart set are almost as gracious and polite to their ex-lovers.

Divorce is getting to be nearly the pleasant little armistice between two marriages.

Sometimes, platonic friendship covers a multitude of emotions that Plato never dreamed of.

At 16, a girl thinks that the hardest task of her life is waiting for the right man to come along—but at 30, she knows that the real test is to keep him from getting past.

My Beauty Hint

BY GRETA NIMMEN
THE shade of make-up plays an important part in adding to beauty and personality. I have learned.
For a pale complexion I would advise a white powder, with just a suggestion of green to give a delicate mother-of-pearl look to the skin. Her nose and lips should be light in tint and sparingly used.
I would suggest that her lashes and brows be accentuated by a judicious use of eye-black, by day; and mascara eye-lashes upon the lids for evening.

Tips on CONTRACT

AVOIDING NO-TRUMP OVERCALLS

By Tom Ufford
It often is better to make a suit rather than no-trump after an opponent has opened the bidding. A no-trump offer tips off the enemy how to finesse. The expert prefers in such situations to overcall with a suit, even highly shaded, until he sees how his partner is fixed.

Here is a hand in which a no-trump overcall, even with a false hand, was termed "horrible" by such a master as Waldemar von Zedwitz:

NORTH		SOUTH
♠ 4 5 6	♥ 7 8 9	♠ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♥ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♦ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♣ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♦ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♣ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

Having a good hand with two five-card biddable suits, North started with the major, bidding one spade. Decewicz, having the spades stopped, offered one no-trump.

Eclipse Favorite Plans Celebration

ECLIPSE FAVORITE No. 40, Ladies' auxiliary in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will observe the thirty-eighth anniversary of its organization at a meeting Sept. 18.

Plans for the anniversary celebration were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Druids hall. Special mention will be made of the two or three charter members who are living.

Two committees were appointed for the celebration meeting. Mrs. Leslie Forsker, Mrs. Benjamin Stine and Mrs. J. E. Braubach were named on a refreshments committee. Mrs. Everett Boncutter, Mrs. J. B. Duckworth and Mrs. Charles Boncutter were appointed an entertainment committee.

MRS. S. G. HALDEMAN NEW W. C. T. U. HEAD

Mrs. S. G. Haldeaman was elected president of the Anna Gordon W. C. T. U. at a meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. M. L. Buckley of Bellefontaine Avenue.

Officers elected with Mrs. Haldeaman were Mrs. Buckley, vice president; Mrs. E. C. King, corresponding secretary and treasurer; Mrs. W. Decker Hazen, recording secretary.

Mrs. Haldeaman was elected delegate to the state W. C. T. U. convention in Cleveland Oct. 18-21 and Mrs. Ed Ellington was elected alternate. The union will have a meeting Oct. 12 with Mrs. Ellington at her home on Dix Avenue.

PYTHIAN SISTERS NAME DELEGATES

Mrs. Mabel Ferry was chosen to represent Canby Temple No. 125, Pythian Sisters, at the grand temple meeting opening Sept. 20 in Lima, when the temple opened its winter season last night in its new rooms on East Center street.

The time was spent socially following a short business session. Mrs. Mabel Peterson was elected reporter for the year. The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Plan Halloween Party.

Plans for a Halloween party to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brady on North State street Oct. 11 were made at the regular monthly meeting of the Senior E. L. C. E. society of the Greenwood Evangelical church held in the church parlors Tuesday night. Mrs. Leonard Brady presided at the meeting.

Karn could not see game possible from his hand, unless Reith had better than a minimum opening, so he doubled the one no-trump, confident of being able to set it.

Von Zedwitz passed and Reith bid three clubs, one more than necessary, a force upon partner commanding him to keep the bidding open until a game contract should be reached.

Boscowitz and von Zedwitz passed during the rest of the auction. Over the three clubs Karn offered three no-trump. Reith went to four clubs and Karn closed offers with four spades.

Success for the declarer was due largely to leading the seven of spades and letting it ride when Boscowitz failed to cover. The no-trump bid by Boscowitz gave a tip as to the probability of a successful finesse.

"Horrible bid, huh?" said von Zedwitz as Reith was talking up the count of game and rubber. "If anything, you should have bid two diamonds."

In that case the final contract probably would have been the same, but the chances are that Reith would not have taken a deep finesse and would have been set. Here was the play:

NORTH		SOUTH
♠ 4 5 6	♥ 7 8 9	♠ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♥ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

ROYALTY LAUGHS AS BOY MAKES ERROR

By International News Service
LONDON.—Referring to the Queen of England as "Miles" a boy-innate of a London foundling home made the royal visitor laugh.

Visiting a London foundling home on a tour of inspection, the Queen came upon the small boy in the garden where he was vigorously pulling up weeds.

Pointing to a weed which the boy held in one hand, the Queen said: "What is that? A thistle?"

And the boy replied: "Yes, miss."

Mrs. Gaines recently completed a course of study with Charles Norman Granville of Chicago.

To Observe Anniversary.

A pollock supper Sept. 27 to commemorate the eighty-second anniversary of the organization of the Rebekah lodge, was planned by Sosnowski Rebekah lodge at a meeting Tuesday night in the I. O. O. F. lodge hall. Three visitors were present from the Wayside lodge. A short business session was conducted.

MARIE: Well, the manicurist told me—

NATALIE: Oh, they always give expensive advice.

MARIE: Not this time. She said just use Lux in the dishpan. It's a beauty treatment for your hands, yet costs less than 1¢ a day.

A Genuine Super-Powered Frigidaire

(Two cylinders instead of One)

is now offered with
1/4 Greater food space
in the same sized cabinet

Yes, thanks to a revolutionary development, this low price now buys a genuine 2-cylinder Frigidaire with Super Power to freeze more ice, to keep foods fresher, to operate at lower cost.
And that's not all. With 1/4 more food space in the same sized cabinet, you can now have a roomy refrigerator even though your kitchen may be small. You are invited to see a demonstration of the revolutionary development

... to compare this Frigidaire point by point with any other refrigerator. Nothing has been "cheaper." It's the same Super-Powered two-cylinder Frigidaire with the Cold Control, the waist-high shelves, the one-piece porcelain interior and many other Frigidaire conveniences. And with the low price, terms are so liberal that it is cheaper to install Frigidaire in your home right now than to go another day without it.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

(Copyright, 1932, Lippincott)

“TWO TWENTY-ONE,” answered the doorkeeper. “The car is waiting outside.”

“Thank you,” said the woman, and she went out. The day was hot and the sun beat down on the road. The car was a new one, a dark color, and it was very fast. The woman sat in the back seat, looking out at the road. She was a young woman, with dark hair and a bright smile. She was wearing a light-colored dress and a hat. She was looking out at the road, and she was thinking about the man who was waiting for her. She was thinking about the man who was waiting for her, and she was thinking about the man who was waiting for her.
